

Department Of Anthropology

Department Incharge : Dr. Deepshikha Awasthi

Email ID: apsenanthropology@gmail.com

Historical Background

Established in 1959, the Department of Anthropology started with the appointment of Mrs Sneh Singh. She initiated a well- equipped laboratory that was a foundation stone for the Department. She was succeeded by Shakti Rani Bhattacharya in 1972 who made major improvements in the Department. Later in 1982, Dr. Amar Lata Agnihotri took over the Department as the Head. After her retirement in 2015 Dr. Shri Rai became the next Head of the Department. Currently Dr. Deepshikha Awasthi is providing academic guidance in the Department.

Achievements and Contribution

Since the beginning of the department the staff had contributed to develop an insight among the students to embrace cultural diversity. Since its inception, the Department of Anthropology has demonstrated a strong commitment to enhancing academic discourse and research through organizing various academic activities. The faculty members are noted for their specialized expertise in various domains, including Biological Anthropology, Medical Anthropology and Social-Cultural Anthropology. This specialized knowledge contributes significantly to the department's reputation for academic excellence. The department also boasts a commendable student performance record, with an approximate pass rate of 98%. The department's objectives are in alignment with the broader vision and mission of the institution, which focuses on delivering high-quality education, and Women-empowerment. These goals are supported by a foundation of core human values.

Career Outcomes

As Department offers an undergraduate course in anthropology under the aegis of New Education Policy Graduates from the Department of Anthropology excel in various career paths, including civil services, Forensic Science, Legal Sector, Aviation and Academics. The department's robust academic framework equips students with the knowledge and skills necessary for success in these sectors.

Teaching and Learning Methods

The Department of Anthropology employs a diverse range of pedagogical methods to support student learning. Traditional instructional techniques, such as lectures and tutorials, are complemented by modern approaches, including audio-visual presentations and group discussions. To further enhance learning outcomes, the department provides a variety of supplementary resources, including question banks, reading lists, project assignments, fieldwork opportunities, and study visits. Additionally, the department facilitates access to relevant web links and reports. Moreover, the department organizes invited and guest lectures featuring experts from various disciplines to address contemporary and relevant issues. These initiatives are designed to expand students' perspectives and deepen their understanding of anthropological concepts by exposing them to a variety of viewpoints and current developments within the field.

Academic Excellence and Research

We take pride in our department's excellent academic achievements, consistently maintaining a pass percentage of over 80%. Many of our students have secured distinction marks, demonstrating our commitment to academic rigor.

Department YouTube Channel

<https://youtube.com/@apsenanthropology?si=H0D3kdlakugbT52r>

Department Email ID

apsenanthropology@gmail.com

Syllabus Link

http://udrc.lkouniv.ac.in//Content/DepartmentContent/SY_cd9c3f00-25d8-4986-afe2-d5fd4de1231f_2.pdf

Time Table

Time and Semester	8:00 to 9:00AM	9:00 to 10:00AM	10:00 to 11:00AM	11:00 to 12:00PM	12:00 to 01:00PM
B.A SEM 1&2		D-3	Remedial class D-9
B.A SEM 3&4	D-9		Remedial class D-9
B.A SEM 5&6			Remedial class D-9	D-9

Departmental Activities

